How are prerequisites handled in the Exchange?

When taking courses through the Exchange, students consent to provide proof to the Teaching College of having completed any necessary prerequisites at their Home College. However, a student’s full academic record is not currently supplied to the Teaching College at the time of enrollment and registration. College’s have approached prerequisites in different ways, depending on the configuration of their respective systems. Some colleges have chosen to hide all prerequisite sections from enrollment through the Exchange. Others enable tentative enrollments that require the student to follow up with the Teaching College’s A&R or Counseling departments to provide the required documentation (in this process, students automatically receive a prompt to do so during the enrollment process).
How are Residency Determination Dates handled through the Exchange?

There is no change to the procedure for setting residency determination dates at a college. The Home College establishes residency determination dates for cross-enrolled students and the Teaching College accepts the student’s residency classification verified by the Home College per California Education Code Section 68101.
On which college’s transcripts do student grades appear?

Teaching College grades will not be posted on the Home College transcripts (i.e. students will have individual transcripts from each college). The Home College will have access to a students transcripts via eTranscript at the end of each term.
What about...?

How are modifications to the Teaching College transcript handled?

Home college staff will have access to any modified Teaching College transcripts. Teaching College transcripts will be electronically accessible to the Home College at the end of each term, and any point thereafter, via eTranscript.
Are students allowed to change their Home College?

Students are only allowed to change Home Colleges at the start of a new term. Once students have identified their Home College for cross enrollment purposes, they will not be allowed to change their Home College mid-term.
